THE ADVANTAGE

which a really sound state of health gives to a person is incaiculable. In domestic, social, and business life a condition of good health will bring to the happy possessor more benefits, directly and indirectly, than can easily be imagined. People are more pleasant to meet and deal with in every sphere of life when they are in possession of good health. Rarely indeed do you find such people "down in the dumps," frowning at Fate, depressed and thinking that everything is going wrong. Such feelings are usually foreign to the healthy and the strong. People who are anxious to be well cannot be too, often reminded of the immense importance.

OF TAKING care of that important part of the care of that important part of the physical organisation—the digestive system. For it happens so very frequently that things first go wrong there. And when once the digestion gets choroughly out of order all sorts of troubles follow. One of the best meth da known for keeping the digestion right, all the year roand, is the judicious use of Beecham's Pills. This medicine is widely known and well recommended. People who have proved their value by taking them speak in the highest terms of

MEATH CUB-HUNTING.

(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

At the end of last week Sir Francis Lambart's woodlands at Beauparc were drawn, but it was not till reaching Bayes' laurels bounds opened, hunting a fox down the vale towards Beauparc, and getting blood. On Tuesday, in fine, but very cold, weather, Bellinter was visited, but no fox found till reaching the gien on the side of Tara Hill. Here the pack found two brace, two cubs being killed. Then came a capital hunt with an old fex over Mr. M'Dermoti's land, pointing for Kilmessan station on the Midland Railway. From here the fox twisted back, leading through Balgreth and skirting the Bellinter woodlands till he made the first wood of Dowestown, and saved his brush in a rabbit hole, afterclose on a sty-mile point of a capital gallop. Afterwards Sir John Dillon's Poud wood at Lismullen held a brace, one of which was hunted a bit ont of the Skyrne side, and lost. This finished, the "Rathloo" and Glen being blank.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1917.

The Rising Storm. The good news from Flanders during the farmer's whole agricultural economy. past fortnight is crowned to-day by excellent news from Berlin. It is hardly too much to say that the official confession of seven shillings shall continue until July a recent mutiny in the German Fleet is, 1st, 1918, after which the sixty shilling in a could not be concealed from the German people; and it establishes facts of the first military and political importance. One is that the fighting quality of the German Navy has declined seriously since the Battle of Jutland: mutiny spells decay of discipline, and decay of discipline, and decay of discipline, and decay of discipline, and decay of efficiency. Another fact is that the solid wall of Germany's defence not only is being severely battered from without, but is beginning to crack from without to the future of the Box's Brigade organisation and the Cadet mevement, said that Cadet mevement, said that Cadet mevement, said that Cadet mevement, said the Cadet mevation, a spalls decay of efficiency. Another fact is that the solid wall of Gehnany's defence not only is being severely battered from without, but is beginning to crack from without, but is beginning to crack from without. The story of the mutiny was given to the Reichstag, briefly and vaguely, on Tuesday by Admiral von Capelle, the Minister of Marine. His main purpose was to discredit the Independent Socialists, but it is certain that, even under that temptation, he had concealed the affair until concalment was no longer possible. According to Admiral von Capelle, a number of solidors, encouraged by the Russian her for the first of the forthcoming food economy camber of the Independent Socialist degulation of the Independent Socialist degulates in the Reichstag, conspired to disobey their officers, to paralyse the Navy, and so to force Germany into an unfavourable peace. The mutiny was suppressed, and the ringleaders were purshed "as they described the form a neutral source-says that the crews of four buttleships at Wilhelmshaven seized their officers, nurdered at least one captain, and there went ashore, where settled the profition of the form a neutral source-says that the crews of four buttleships at Wilhelmshaven seized their officers, nurdered at least one captain, and there went ashore, where settled the form a neutral source-says that the crews of four buttleships at Wilhelmshaven seized their officers, nurdered at least one captain, and there went ashore, where settled the form and the tringleader of the settled by eight million men are being restored to the desired from without the state of the said read the settled and contained the following gifts and the ringleaders were punished "as they desired the form of the following gifts are followed by the world and the following gifts are followed by the world the following gifts are followed by the following gifts are fol measures by the Imperial Chancellor's warning that the Reichstag would not tolerate them.

The mutiny was suppressed, but the affair will precipitate—perhaps, by many weeks—the inevitable crisis of the conflict between autocracy and democracy in Germany. Autocracy still is in command, but its increasing dangers are making it desperate. It has failed to coax democracy, and it now resolved to crush it. In the Reichstag, on Monday, the Socialists protested angrily against the Government's connivance at the efforts of the reactionary. "Fatherland Party" to drill the minds, as the Army drills the bodies, of the soldiers at the front. On Tuesday the Imperial Chancellor defended the political propagnads in the trenches on the ground that "mental and moral pabulum are urgently needed" at the German front. Immediately after the Chancellor's defiance Admiral von Capelle crossed the Rubicon and burnt the Government's boats with a vengeance. His speech has begun a struggle in which, it lovernment's boats with a vengeance. His peech has begun a struggle in which, it is hardly rashness to predict, either autocracy or democracy must go down for ever. From to-day the Independent Socialists, and all the forces of political enlightenment that they represent-including, as we in the Navy and Army—are fighting not merely for political liberty, but for their lives. The Admiral accused the Independent Socialist leaders directly of high treason against the State. He charged them with having initiated and fostered the mutiny at Wilhelmshaven. He said that the chief agitator from the Fleet had been in conference with Herren Dittman, Hase, and Vogtherr, that they had supplied him with seditious literature, and had helped him to such purpose that the conspiracy had agents on all the ships of the Fleet. He supported his charges in the Navy and Army—are fighting not States aviation engine has passed its final may now assume, tens of thousands of men the Fleet. alliance" must be enforced against Germany after the war. To this category of negatives Baron von Kühlmann added another--that Alsace-Lorraine must never another—that Alsace-Lorraine must never cease to be an integral part of Imperial Germany. We do not know whether these statements are designed to cheer the German people or to stimulate the few, but busy, "pacificists" in the Allied countries.

THE LATE SULTAN OF

According to a Cairo telegram of Tuesday's date, the Egyptian Premier, in announcing the death of the Sultan, said—By his profound love of country and admirable devotion to the public cause during his whole life, the Sultan worthily earped the gratitude of the country. By his eminent intellectual qualities and his noble heart he gained the affection and veneration, not only of the Egyptians, but of every insabitant of the country. Egypt will mourn his death as a national disaster. From every corner of the country, not only from the temples of God, but from the highest to the humblest dwelling, ardent prayers go forth for the repose of the roul of him whom history rightly called the Father of his People. It is with a broken heart that I announce Egypt's terrible loss.

Prince Fuad, the late Sultan's brother, succeeds to the throne.

KING'S MESSAGE TO NEW SULTAN.

SULTAN.

The King has sent to the new Sultan of Egypt a message, in which His Majesty offers condelences on the death of the late Sultan, wishes his successor a long and happy reign, and assures him of his continued friendship and surport.

The Sultan has replied, suitably acknowledging His Majesty's gracious message.

Mr. Llovd George, on behalf of the Government, and Mr. Balfour have also sent their congratulations to the new ruler.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF 2,000 PRISONERS. TO-DAY.

THE GERMAN NAVAL

MUTINY. Commenting on the revolt in the German Kavy, The Times remarks:—The causes which Admiral Capelle assigns for the outhreak are highly interesting. He ascribes it to "revolutionary ideas," imbibed from the nssian Revolution. The mutineers, he de-lares, intended to seize the ships, "in order to aralyse the Fleet and enforce peace." That shows the risk of setting one's neighbour's house on fire. The flames have a way of spreading over the party wall, to the discomfiture of the incendiaries. According to the Admiral and to lier Michaelis, they found inflammable gaterial within the walls of the Reichstag building itself. The Secretary for the Navy says there is documentary evidence of the complicity of the Independent Socialist deputies, Herren Dittmann, Hanse, and Vogtherr, in the plot. Froofs may, or may not, be forthcoming; but the alleged extracts from confessions made by the will seamen, which the Administrations. the guilty seamen, which the Admiral proceeded to read, and which the Chancellor accepted, are, ou the face of it, no proofs at all. The socialist, Herr Ebert, was plainly in the right when he pointed out that the Admiral had failed to establish his charges, and the Chancellor was as plainly in the wrong when he objected to Herr Haase's assertion, that nothing has been made out argainst him or his next.

THE KAISER AND THE MUTINEERS.

GERMAN CROWN COUNCIL.

Admiral von Capelle, in the Reichstag on Tuesday, admitted that there had been a mutiny in the German Fleet, and he members of the Independent Socialist Party with receiving a repre-

our Fleet, and introduced revolutionary ideas among them. According to the erazy plans of these few people, some leaders were to be selected on board all vessels, to incite all the crews in the Fleet to disobedience—(bear, hear, on the Right)—in order, if necessary, by force, to paralyse the Fleet, and to enforce peace. (Tumultuous shouls of "Shame" from the Right). It has been established by documents that the chief agitator explained his plans here in the Reichstag buildings, in the room of the Independent. Social Democratic Party, to Deputies Herren Dittmann. Hause, and Vogtherr, who approved of them. (Great shouts of "Shame" from the Right), uproar on the Extreme Left). The Deputice pointed out the dangers of such procedure, and advised the greatest caution, but promised their full support by the supply of seditious material for the incitement of the Fleet. (Repeated shouts of "Shame" from the Right). In view of this situation, it was my just duty to prevent, as far as was in my power, the promised material from finding access to the Fleet. I therefore instructed the naval authorities concerned to prevent, by all means, the circulation of this material. (Applause.) As regards the subsequent occurrences in the Fleet. I can make no statement here. A few unprincipled and disloyal persons who committed a severe oftence have met the fate they deserved. But, nevertheless, I want to state from a public platform, that the rumours which are current, and naturally also come to my knowledge, are immensely exaggerated. The prepareduces of the Fleet was not in doubt a single moment, and thus it shall continue to be. (Applause.) Horr Febrenhach, Centre Party, said that the majority in the Reichstag was convinced that by the renunciation of extreme demands future wars would be avoided. We demand, he said, the assured neutrality of Belgium, and that that country does not fall into a condition of military dependence on the Entent; and we demand the return of the German Colonies. The abolition of the sea supremacy of a single Power is a matter of course. A further peace offer will not be made. We are ready to follow the Government, but it must be a Government which is capable of leading and is united and strong. THE FOREIGN SECRETARY.

The Socialist, Herr David, replying, said—
In view of the extremely serious accusations made by Admiral von Capelle against members of the House, I find it difficult to believe that the facts are as sisted by him. At any rate, the greatest raticence is necessary, though the defendants must, of course, be beard. The Chancellor put the Independent Socialist party outside the boundary line of equality which they themselves have drawn up., In doing so he was certainly influenced by Admirat von Capelle's report. AMERICAN PUBLISHER KILLED.

AMERICAN PUBLISHER KILLED.

Knocked down by a motor car when crossing the road at Trafalgar equare, Mr. Samuel Elliott, aged 73, a retired publisher, of New York, died in hospital from his injuries. The driver of the car was exonerated. Born at Annandale, Sootland, Mr. Elliott went to America before he was 30, and had a distinguished journalistic career. He organised an American contribution towards the purchase of Carlyle's house at Chelsea, and became a trustee of the house. Mr. Elliott had many friends in London, and lived at the Savoy when there. He was a close acquaintance of the late Sir Henry Irving.

Ladies who desire a correct "tout ensemble" for this winter will be the next 12 days at Switzer's. All departments are making special displays of the new Modes. Buyers have returned from Paris and London. The Debutante Departments, by a new workroom system, are producing copies of smart models at quite moderate prices. Next Monday a great fashion exposition will commence in all our windows. Be sure to see it, and look for the large illustrated fashion review in this paper
